Our Jewellery Making Process

ORDERING PROCESS:

Choose which colour resin you would like to encase the ashes of your loved one. Once you have ordered your jewellery piece we will send you a special kit for you to use in order to confirm your order, confirm resin colours and ring size (if applicable), and to send a small amount of ashes back to us.

THE KIT CONTAINS:

- Spoon for transferring a small amount of ashes
- Small labelled bag to put the ashes in to
- Order confirmation form
- Freepost return padded envelope
- Ring Sizer if applicable

WHAT DO THE DIFFERENT COLOURS REPRESENT?

PURPLE embodies luxury, wisdom, creativity, and magic. It lets us communicate with our innermost thoughts.

GREEN symbolises harmony, safety, hope, and endurance. It restores depleted energy and balances the head with the heart.

READY IN ONLY 7 DAYS AFTER WE RECEIVE THE ASHES

Once you receive the kit and have confirmed all of the details of your order using the order confirmation form, please send us the ashes of your loved one in the Freepost envelope provided. We will then start the process of making your unique jewellery piece for you.

This process takes around 7 days, and once your jewellery piece is ready we will send it to you by courier. If you need it sooner than this then please contact us to see if we can help!

As our Gold jewellery pieces are made to order, please allow around 4 to 6 weeks for these to be returned to you as each one needs to be hallmarked individually by the Assay office.

Engraving is an option on some of our jewellery and please see each item for how many characters of engraving is possible. Engraving is an extra £39 cost.

Please remember that as this jewellery piece is made bespoke for each customer, returns and refunds are not accepted. Please also remember to always keep a small amount of ashes in case of loss.

These creations are the end result of many manual handcrafted steps, that can lead to small differences in resin colour and finish. They are made by expert hands of experienced goldsmiths and artisans, combining traditional and new techniques to create a beautiful memorial jewellery piece.

Please contact us on 01872 487101 or refer to our website for further details and sizing of our jewellery pieces.
